TREATING OUR FAMILY AND YOURS

All osteopathic medical students are AOA members. Find these resources and more on DO-Online (www.do-online.org)

DO-ONLINE PROGRAMS AND RESOURCES

Tips, Tactics and Truths: Making the Most of your Osteopathic Medical Education

Updated yearly, this online resource guide outlines decisions you might face throughout osteopathic medical school and helps prepare you for postdoctoral training.

iLearn Mentor Program

Find a mentor in the specialty or location that you're considering to obtain guidance and coaching. Email, meet, or talk – let an experienced DO help you navigate your future.

Getting ready for postdoctoral training: Learn more about the AOA Match to help you obtain the osteopathic intern and resident positions of your choice; use the Electronic Residency Application Service (ERAS) to submit materials to your selected AOA-approved postdoctoral training programs; find a program on Opportunities, a database of all osteopathic internship and residency programs; look on DO Jobs Online for available residency and unfilled post-match internship postings.

Getting ready for practice: DO-Online covers all of your questions about training approval, board certification, state licensing board licensure requirements, and international practice rights, as well as all of the services and assistance that the AOA provides for practicing DOs.

Also on DO-Online: Podcasts, the AOA President's Blog, and the Daily Report Blog

NETWORK WITH OTHER AOA MEMBERS

Free Convention Registration

All osteopathic medical students attend the AOA's annual Convention and Scientific Seminar absolutely free. 2009: November 1-5, 2009, in New Orleans; October 24-28, 2010, in San Francisco; October 30-November 3, 2011, in Orlando; October 7-11 in San Diego.

DO Day on Capitol Hill

Experience how the AOA works with Congress and responds to legislation affecting the osteopathic medical profession. Mark your calendar for the next DO Day on Capitol Hill, April 29, 2010.

Presidential Visits

The AOA president and other AOA leaders try to visit every College of Osteopathic Medicine to answer questions and update students on the professional family. To find out when AOA leadership will be visiting your campus, call: 800.621.1773, ext. 8126.

GET INVOLVED

American Osteopathic Foundation (AOF)
